

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to isolated polynucleotide encoding proteins with O-succinylhomoserine sulphydrylase activity as well as methods of producing L-amino acids with bacterial cells comprising an attenuated metZ gene.